

2. Open-close principle

* A class should be open for extension and closed for modification

→ In this we can define common interface class which can be extended for any type of service.

Can be extended to any other service

Open logic

* Here change is not required in the interface, we can implement new service by inheritance.

" Higher level - components are protected from changes to lower level components "

